Public Transportation

Price of tickets 900 Huf per person.
Bus 100E departs from the Liszt Ferenc Airport Terminal 2 every 30 minutes between 5am and 12:30 am.

It stops at Kálvin Square and Astoria (This stop is served by bus 100E only at 04:02 and 04:32 in the early morning. The bus does not stop here other times, before it reaches its final destination Deák Square. From here you have two options.

- 1.) Walk from Kálvin Square to Astoria (name of metro stop, but the street is Rákóczi út. If you come this way, take note of Rákóczi út 5 on the right side of the street. There are large green doors on a green building. This is part of Eötvös Loránd University, but at the end of the hall in this building is a great inexpensive buffet style restaurant open to the public.
- 2.) If you are not feeling it as a walk, your best option is to go to the end, Deák Ferenc tér and then take Metro 2 (RED Line) two stops to Blaha Lujza tér. From there, it is a block and a half walk to BudaBaB.

Estimated travel time: 45 minutes

As of 9-1-2013, the City of Budapest has increased the taxi rates significantly. There are no longer fixed rate taxi fares. They all run by meter. If there is no traffic, it will cost about 7,000 Huf to get into the city center. If there is traffic, it can be considerably more. If you speak Hungarian, try booking online with <http://www.ferihegyexpress.com/pricing.html> but you need a mobile phone to SMS them when you are by the stand. They speak minimal English.

Oh, no! My flight gets in later!!
